MAY KEEP JEANNES BEQUEST

Swarthmore College Managers to Consider It Tuesday.

Representative Cocks, Member of Board, Hopes to Keep Athletics and Still Get Money.

The athletic soul of Swarthmore College, which has been in danger of sacrifice upon the altar of the famous Jeannes million-dollar bequest, may yet be saved, according to Representative William W.

Mr. Cocks said yesterday that a meeting of the board of managers of Swarthmore will be held at Philadelphia next Tuesday, and that at this meeting the question of complying with the terms of the bequest will be finally settled.

Under the terms of the bequest, he said. Jeannes will were made public the Swarthmore authorities, he said, have been examining the condition of the Jeannes properties, and a report exhibiting the exact value of these properties will be shown at the meeting of next

Mr. Cocks said yesterday that the Jeannes bequest has shrunk in size from the cool million to some comparatively small figure, but he was not certain enough as to the extent of the shrinkage to name any figure.
